Judges Comments:

Few highlights. Many hot and phenolic wines. Dirty ferment characters can be avoided with good winemaking and proper pre-bottling preparation. The two top wines are examples of what can be achieved with attention to site and climate. Full styles and ripe fruit character should show restraint and careful phenolic handling. Finer styles should embrace delicate aromatics and show fine acid and sugar balance.

Producers should not be constrained by style but develop wines with the balance of varietal character which represent appropriate vineyard site and management practises.

Not a bad class with the 2005's looking better than the 2006 vintage. Good to see freshness and vibrancy of fruit to the fore, oak kept well in check. Different styles gave plenty of interest in this class.
